

CENTRAL AND SOUTH OKANAGAN COMMUNITY COUNCIL

ANNUAL REPORT 2009

CHAIR SUMMARY

We have had a very active and productive year! In April of last year the council supported from “Inclusion to Belonging” a presentation and world cafe for individuals across sectors and with differing abilities to discuss and promote a “warm and healthy welcoming community” for all of its members. This event was a rousing success with over 100 attendees and an introductory address from Mayor Sharon Sheppard. We enjoyed guest speakers including: Caroline Ivey from the Parkinson Recreation Centre and Sylvie Zebroff, Family Partnership Advisor. October 2009 was incredibly busy with events promoting the gifts and strengths of people with developmental disabilities. Various members of the council participated in a resource/transition fair and dance at the Recreation centre. On the 19th and 20th of October, 15 self advocates from the region participated in the first ever, regional Self Advocate Conference! This event was organized and coordinated by self advocates for self advocates. And for those that participated in this event it was deemed a “highlight” of their year. This event was so positive that it will occur every 2 years with various self advocate groups in the region hosting it. Just “Start with Hi”! Various council members enjoyed time at the Orchard Park Mall where along with self advocates and community dignitaries we launched this very important campaign. The response from the public was overwhelmingly positive. In addition to the above the following was also completed: a community council/ self advocate flyer was created; survey packages were compiled and a new chairperson was appointed—Anna Caruso. In February 2010, the council supported the continuation of “Start with Hi” by provided an honorarium to self advocates that gave free newspapers to community members. In March, Stephen Russell oriented the council on the new terms of reference. The council voted unanimously for a strategic planning day to develop new tasks and initiatives for the upcoming year...this will be occurring next week!
