

CLBC Home Sharing Rates

Effective April 1, 2019

NOTE: These rates will be increased April 1, 2020. Visit the home sharing section of CLBC's website to see the newest rates.

CLBC's Home Sharing Rate Table is based on an individual's level of disability support needs as reflected in an assessment tool called the Guide to Support Allocation (GSA). Each GSA level aligns with a total compensation amount. Home sharing providers receive this total compensation via payments from CLBC and individual contributions. Individuals contribute a portion of their income, usually based on whether they are under 65 and receive BC Disability Assistance (often called "PWD"), or over 65 and receive the Old Age Security/Guaranteed Income Supplement (OAS/GIS).

**An ongoing flag indicates a persistent exceptional need that requires special consideration and/or additional funding to ensure the individual's needs continue to be met.*

Notes

- 1) Total compensation amounts apply to all home sharing providers.
- 2) Payment amounts apply to most individuals in Home Sharing but will be adjusted where the individual receives less PWD, or OAS/GIS, than a single person who does not have other income.
